

"No Grand-Stand" Business on His Coming Hunt- ing Trip

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Several senators talked with the President today about his western trip. Mr. Roosevelt told them that he did not intend to allow his hunting trip to be delayed or interfered with by any "grand-stand business." He said that as soon as he can get away he will head for Colorado on a fast train and all invitations to stop at must be confined to his second trip: He will start West again after the World Fair dedication ceremonies at St. Louis on April 30.

Senator Hopkins of Illinois asked the President to stop in Chicago longer than between trains. Senator Long of Kansas asked Mr. Roosevelt to attend the state meeting of the railroad Y. M. C. A. at Topeka May 1. This invitation was accepted.

Senator Patterson of Colorado told the President again of the great number of bear that are overrunning the northern section of his state.

"De-light-ed," said Mr. Roosevelt. "I hope I'll get some of them."

WOMEN DRIVE STAKE WAGONS

Unusual Feature of the Truckmen's Strike for Higher Wages in Kansas City.

TWO WOMEN HANDLE HORSES OF FREIGHT VANS

Mrs. Evans, Wife of a Transfer Official, Manages Her Team Like a Trained Jockey and Looks Natty in Blue Costume.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 12.—Women are factors in the teamsters' strike here. Mrs. Evans, wife of George D. Evans of the American Transfer Co., who whipped her way through the strikers yesterday, drove one of her husband's heavy freight vans again today. She says that she will continue driving until the strike is over, if necessary. She made four trips this morning with a wagon heavily loaded with goods from the Western Grocery Co. to the various depots in the West bottoms.

Seated upon the high seat of the big van, she looked in strange contrast to the other drivers. On her initial trip today, from the Western Grocery Co.'s wharf at Twelfth and Mulberry streets to the Missouri Pacific freight depot on St. Louis avenue, she was given a hearty reception the entire way. People went to the windows along her route and waved their hands at her. The strikers jeered from the sidewalk, but did not come near the van. Many business men standing in their doorways raised their hats as she passed them. Through it all she drove unconcerned and paid no heed to the greetings of her friends or the cries of the strikers. Once as her name was called she nodded in reply.

Mrs. Evans is an accomplished driver and handled the big team of freight horses with skill. She was dressed in a light blue walking skirt of heavy material and wore a pink shirtwaist, almost concealed by a tan jacket. Over her skirt hat she wore a thin veil. A pair of dark gloves covered her hands. She secured a new whip this morning before starting and kept it with her.

When she arrived at the freight wharf of the Western Grocery Co. this morning she was at first at a loss how to back the wagon up against it. She did not ask for assistance, but accomplished the task like an old driver.

"I was worn out after my work yesterday," she said, "but I didn't tell any one. I went with my husband to the Grand Theater, but we only stayed till the third act. The streets in these bottoms are so rough that I find it hard work driving over them. I was reared here, though, and know every place and everybody in the West bottoms. That makes it easier. I come to work at 5 o'clock this morning, and have been hauling freight ever since. I will work until the strike is settled unless more drivers are secured. I have not seen my husband since he left the house this morning. I went right to the barn and got a team."

Mrs. H. E. Meyers of 1016 Union avenue is the other woman who is driving a freight van. Her husband was one of the nonunion drivers employed by the Western Transfer Co. His wagon was stopped this morning at Twelfth and Mulberry streets by strikers. He was persuaded to him and persuaded him to leave the wagon in the street. As he climbed down his wife broke through the crowd and climbed to the driver's seat.

"Get up here," she said. He refused, and she repeated her command, scolding the strikers who stood about. Officer Clark came up and told the strikers to clear the street. They obeyed without protest. "Officer, make my husband get up here," said the woman. Meyers still stood on the ground and told his wife to get down. She refused.

"Get up," said Officer Clark. "and get your wagon off this street." Meyers obeyed and climbed up beside his wife. She took the reins and drove off. As she went she tossed Officer Clark a cent. He picked it up and pocketed it. The woman said she would continue to drive and assist her husband on the wagon as long as it was necessary.

The strikers call Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Meyers "Carrie Nations." They shouted the words at the two women whenever they passed. Mrs. Evans laughed and considered it a good joke.

Many a mountain youth has sought to gain her, and one of two men of ripe years are proudly shown on her list of suitors. And yet, she is alone, with much sorrowful. And yet, she is still open for the successful wooer.

CORNELL DEATH LIST 22.

Typical Claims Two More Victims, but Epidemic Is Decreasing.

Rockwell, a freshman in Ithaca, both of the latter reported. Both students had been home only a short time. Knapp was one of the best ball players in the university and had played on the "varsity" up to a few weeks ago. Only two new cases have been reported in 24 hours.

YOU CAN INTEREST HIM.

Any Man Over Fifty.

You can interest any man over fifty years of age in anything that will make him feel better, because while he may not as yet have any positive organic disease he no longer feels the buoyancy and vigor of twenty-five nor the freedom from aches and pains he enjoyed in earlier years, and he very naturally examines with interest any proposition looking to the improvement and preservation of his health. He will notice among other things that the stomach of fifty is a very different one from the stomach he possessed at twenty-five. That greatest care must be exercised as to what is eaten and how much of it, and even with the best of care, there will be increasing digestive weakness with advancing years.

A proposition to perfect or improve the digestion and assimilation of food is one which interests not only every man of fifty but every man, woman and child of any age, because the whole secret of good health, good blood, strong nerves, is to have a stomach which will promptly and thoroughly digest the wholesome food because blood, nerves, brain tissue and every other constituent of the body is entirely the product of digestion, and no medicine or "health" food can possibly create pure blood or restore shaky nerves, when a weak stomach is replenishing the daily wear and tear of the body from a mass of fermenting half digested food.

No, the stomach itself wants help and in no roundabout way either; it wants direct, unmistakable assistance, such as is given by one of two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

These tablets cure stomach trouble because their use gives the stomach a chance to rest and recuperate; one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contains digestive elements sufficient to digest 3000 grains of ordinary food such as bread, meat, eggs, etc.

The plan of dieting is simply another name for starvation, and the use of prepared foods and new fangled breakfast foods simply makes matters worse, as any dyspeptic who has tried them knows.

As Dr. Bennett says, the only reason I can imagine why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not universally used by everybody who is troubled in any way with poor digestion is because many people seem to think that because a medicine is advertised or is sold in drug stores or is protected by a trademark it must be a humbug, whereas as a matter of truth any druggist who is observant knows that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured more people of indigestion, heartburn, heart trouble, nervous prostration and run down condition generally than all the patent medicines and doctors' prescriptions for stomach trouble combined.

And greater still, if possible, is the wonderful record of cures of torturing, disfiguring humours among young and children. BATSON HAD BUT ONE TRUE FRIEND Mother Swooned in Court When the Jury Found Her Son Guilty of Murder.

MISSOURI WOMAN

STOOD BY HER BOY

For the Second Time He Was Convicted of Killing Six Members of the Earl Family on a Louisiana Plantation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 12.—"We, the jury, find Albert E. Batson guilty of murder in the first degree." "O, God, my poor, innocent boy!" Following this exclamation, the convicted murderer's mother fell in a swoon.

This was the dramatic ending of the second trial of Batson for the murder of six members of the Earl family near Welch, La., one year ago last month.

Batson's mother, Mrs. Joseph Payne, has been a pathetic figure in the trial. Batson is a son of her first marriage. Mrs. Payne is poor. She lives at Packard, Mo., and managed by the help of friends to find means to come all the way to Louisiana to be by the side of her boy in his last trial.

She was his only friend. Probably every person who has read or followed the evidence at the trial believed Batson guilty of the crime.

A Mother's Faith in Her Boy.

The mother alone said it could not be; her boy was not a murderer. Every day preceding the trial she saw him in his cell. During the trial she was always by his side. After Mrs. Payne fainted in court a cot was brought into the courtroom and the woman placed upon it. Stimulants were administered and in a few minutes she revived.

Then she called for her boy. He leaned over her and their lips met. She pressed him to her breast and wept. The deputies called on Batson to go back to the jail and she pleaded with them not to separate her from him.

Batson heard the sentence read unmoved. However, when he took his mother in his arms she lay upon the cot his eyes filled with tears. He weakened only for a moment. Then, at the suggestion of the court, Mrs. Payne was removed to an ante-room, even as the deputy was putting the handcuffs on Batson. Then Batson gave way. For the first time he seemed to realize his position.

The Story of the Tragedy.

The murder of the Earl family is believed to have occurred on or about the 12th of February, 1902. The family lived about a mile from the thriving town of Welch, where recently several fine oil wells were discovered. The Earls were rice farmers, the son, Ward Earl, having a farm near the railroad track than the father. It was not before the 12th or 14th of February that the bodies were finally discovered, five of them in the house of Ward Earl and the other, the body of the father of the family, in a ditch about a quarter of a mile distant. The murdered family consisted of Mrs. P. Earl, Ward Earl, her son; Fay Earl, Lemuel Earl and John Earl. Their bodies were found lying in one room, and later the body of L. P. Earl, the father of the family, was found lying in a ditch covered with rice straw, and near it a buckskin glove, covered with blood, and doublets worn by the murderer on this occasion. A team of mules and a bay and a black horse had been taken from the farm, as well as a shotgun and a watch. No money was stolen from the place, as Ward Earl kept his money in the bank and paid off his men with checks, and this fact was known to Batson, who was in Ward Earl's employ, and it was his knowledge of this that caused many to believe that he was not guilty of the murder.

The Identification Was Clear.

The story of how Mr. Downs identified Batson as the man who left the mules with him after having vainly tried to sell them, formed the principal link in the chain of circumstantial evidence against Batson, and the defense made no effort at all to break down Downs' evidence. The watch, which was identified as Ward Earl's, had been left at a jeweler's for repairs, while the shotgun had also been left to be fixed, and while it was not fully proven that Batson had left these articles for the parties with whom they were left, described a man somewhat like Batson, but failed to positively identify him as the man. The name A. E. Batson had been left with the gun, but there was no doubt that the identification by Mr. Downs formed the principal evidence against the accused. After having left the mules, the party who left them did not reappear to claim either the money for them nor the animals. Subsequently, Batson was arrested in his home at Sikeston, Mo., and from the very first he denied having anything to do with the mules or knowing anything about them.

Charles W. Wall Gives His Reason for Wanting to Eject the Lodge of Elks.

Charles W. Wall, one of the owners of the Holland building, has made a statement that his reason for taking steps to eject the Elks from the building, as told in late editions of the Post-Dispatch, Thursday, was based on the gambling he says has been carried on in and about the lodge room. He said that various games have been conducted in the lodge room for some time, but the most popular game seemed to be poker.

NO WHITEHOUSE FOR HANNA

Senator Refused to Pose Before Executive Mansion for a Photographer—Too Many Inferences to Be Drawn.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—When Senator Hanna came from the President's office he was met by a photographer who requested him to pose for a picture with the White House as a background.

"None of that for me," said Mr. Hanna, as he prepared to enter his carriage. "The last time the gridiron club boys got hold of me they pretended to X-ray my head, and presented a photograph of Senator Hanna with the White House as the central figure of his aspirations. Oh, no; I don't want to give anybody any fresh opportunity to suppose that I am in love with the White House as an ornament of my picture. If you'll just go out to Pennsylvania avenue I will make no objection to the photograph."

WHITECOTTON IS STILL ITS MASTER

House Makes No Effort to Oust Him From the Speakership.

CORRECTION OF TEXT BOOK VOTE WAS NOT DEMANDED

During Bond Payment Celebration Speaker Said Colleagues Might Fear Hemp If They Did Not Transact Business.

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 12.—"Everything is not bright to me in our horizon. Many clouds, it seems to me, are overhanging our way. During my four terms of service within these walls, too often have I seen treachery take the place of duty and greed supplant honesty of purpose, and with these principles actuating men, conduct has been seen and known in these walls, that, in my judgment, if not stopped in some way, may lead to the ruin of the House, which is responsible for the upholding of all important legislation."

When Speaker James H. Whitcotton delivered the above remarks at the bond celebration yesterday afternoon, he referred, as everyone familiar with legislative conditions knows to the present situation in the House, which is responsible for the upholding of all important legislation. Some of the politicians condemned the speaker on the ground that his indirect, but scathing denunciation of the Filipinos, was ill-timed.

"I referred to no particular person," said Mr. Whitcotton to the Post-Dispatch today. "Everybody who understands the difficulties encountered by the House is trying to pass legislation during the past few weeks may grasp the significance of what was said."

The trouble anticipated in the House did not materialize this morning. The attempt to effect an organization failed in its inception.

It was supposed that those who opposed the speaker yesterday would demand correction of the vote by which the agreement of the school text book bill was reconsidered yesterday.

Everything went off peacefully, showing that Whitcotton is still master of the situation.

LEONARD AND SELPH WERE PUGNACIOUS

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 12.—Representatives Colin M. Selph and Thomas J. Leonard almost came to blows on the floor of the House yesterday.

The House was crowded with spectators and Selph was speaking when Leonard attempted to call him to task.

"Never mind, Mr. Speaker, do not pay any attention to him," said Selph.

Thereupon he went up to the speaker's desk a series of communications which he had received from some St. Louis merchants.

"Everybody in the legislature got these letters," said Leonard, rising to his feet second time, "and I move that we discuss with the reading of them."

"You cut that out," yelled Selph, "up down to the speaker's stand, and everybody present, including a number of society women of the state capital, horrified at the unseemly incident, the dilapidated St. Louis member, at so, retorted Leonard, leaving his seat and going down the aisle to meet his colleague.

Mr. Whitcotton pounded for order. "This guy (referring to Leonard) has got no right to butt in here," blurted Selph. "I have as much right as you have," replied Leonard, "and if you talk to me like that again, I will take it out of your hide."

Selph appealed to the speaker not to let Leonard strike him, and, at the same time, hurriedly dispatched a messenger for his valet, Opey.

Meanwhile, the House was in an uproar and several members volunteered to act as seconds for the belligerent St. Louis representatives.

"If you think you can lick me," was Leonard's vehement language, "come out of your seat and I will make mincemeat of Opey."

Again, Mr. Whitcotton pounded his gavel and ordered the St. Louis members away. "Come on outside," said Leonard.

Selph hesitated a moment, then turned around and walked back to his seat. A few minutes later, a frightened clerk rushed up the stairs of the capitol, and, reaching the entrance to the House, breathlessly inquired of the doorkeeper if Mistah Selph had been there.

"Who are you?" asked the doorkeeper. "Mistah Selph's valet," answered Opey. "But 'Mistah Selph' did not see Opey," saying he had not accepted Leonard's challenge to fight a fist duel.

SELPH AND CLARK FOUGHT IN HOUSE

By a Post-Dispatch Correspondent. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 12.—While the debate on the school book question was in progress, a small-sized fight started in the vestibule of the House, the chief participants being Representative Colin M. Selph, Representative Geo. J. Selph and Geo. S. Clark, who is the official doorkeeper.

In an instant the members were in violent disorder, and for 20 minutes the vain attempt was made to remove the belligerents.

Selph was standing in the aisle, when the doorkeeper asked him to move out of the way. Selph answered with a string of oaths, and thereupon Clark struck him across the neck.

Representatives Selph, Lyman and other members of the St. Louis delegation started down the aisle.

By the time they reached the scene of hostilities, Clark and Selph were engaged in a fierce rough and tumble row. Then Selph got in the mix-up.

Members jumped out of their seats and Representative Leo of Mississippi appealed to his colleagues in behalf of the dignity of the House to quell the disturbance.

Finally Selph and Clark were separated, but the former insisted in pursuing the scuffle, and, as a result, is suffering from a highly discolored face.

Speaker Whitcotton resumed the chair, and called on the members to stand by the doorkeeper.

Missing Miller Found.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 12.—It is understood that L. R. Welsch, of the millinery firm of L. R. Welsch & Co., who, it is alleged, secured $10,000 on notes from local banks, has been located in Cincinnati. A conference of representatives of the banks affected with his relatives there, may lead to the only human agency through which this dreadful disease can be cured.

Young Hunter Made Statement.

There is a young man in this town who is eagerly looking forward to March 23. He is going to "celebrate" the sixty-third anniversary of Dr. Francis A. Sieber's birthday all by himself, and with good reason. This young man came into the office of the International Serum Toxin Company, 501-503 Commercial building, Sixth and Olive streets, St. Louis, early in February, his face disfigured by a NOSE WHICH LOOKED LIKE A HORN. It was covered with surgical bandages and both nostrils were entirely closed—due to a case of contagious blood poison. This grateful man now has a normal nose, through which he can smell and breathe, and the only evidence of his trouble is a slight redness, which is rapidly disappearing. The Sieber serum drives

A Heart to Heart Talk

We sat at the table—the alderman, the doctor and I. The subject of dieting was brought up in conversation. "No man," said the alderman, "can tell me what I ought to eat without knowing my habits of life, my temperament and all—is that not so, doctor?" "Perfectly right," said he, "what suits your stomach may not fit mine, and yet nine men out of ten are presumptuous enough to tell you what you ought to eat." "Yes," said I, "they don't appreciate that there is just as great a difference between two men's stomachs as there is between their brains. Overwork some men's stomachs and they will easily respond to the task, just as some men's brains can take care of endless details, but the majority will break down with the overload." "Indigestion," said the doctor, "is not a disease but an admonition—it is the red light that signifies—danger. It is the language of the stomach to prepare for serious trouble if allowed to persist. Bitters and alcoholic medicines are poor means for stimulating the stomach to perform a larger share of work than it ought. The effect on the stomach is like the spur to the weary horse—it weakens him and shortens his life. A rational treatment," continued the doctor, "is moderate eating of wholesome foods, and only those which the person likes. Occasionally, say once a week, a dinner pill should be taken which should be entirely of vegetable ingredients—like Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—that will not purge, but act gently on the liver, stomach and bowels. To my mind the main dependence for curing permanently the indigestion which has become chronic—the 'heart-burn,' the sour eructations, the worst cases of dyspepsia—is that alterative extract made from medicinal herbs that Doctor Pierce calls his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' for it contains no alcohol to overstimulate the stomach, but it simply goes to work in the right way—correcting the liver, purifying the blood and assimilating the food so that the stomach takes up its labors with activity and refreshed powers. It fills the arteries with the pure, rich, red blood of health. It tears down, and carries off old, inert and half-dead tissues and replaces them by new. It builds firm, healthy flesh. It makes the muscles strong and elastic and steadies and tones the nerves. It cures debility and weakness of every description."

W. Walter McGloshen, of Reinbeck, Iowa, writes: "I took only four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and these remedies did me a world of good. I am thankful for your kind advice and praise the medicines highly. Will recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all my friends as the best medicines ever made for the troubles for which they are recommended. There is nothing equal to them for stomach troubles."

C. P. Spencer, of Plano, Okla., wrote: "I can hardly express my thanks for the benefit I have received from taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' They worked like a charm in my case. Am in better health now than for some time, and will not fail to recommend your medicines to my suffering friends. I hope you will receive my thanks for the good your medicine has done me."

F. H. Cooper Pres.
Founder of the Big Store of Siegel Cooper Co., Chicago and New York.

THE BIG STORE'S FOUNDER. It is wonderful how firm a hold in the public confidence the treatment of the International Serum Toxin Company has already secured. This is due almost entirely to the personal character and conservative statements in connection therewith of the president of the company, F. H. Cooper, Esq., founder of the "Big Store" of the Siegel Cooper Co. in New York and Chicago, and one of the most progressive and successful American merchants. There are hundreds of men now, of all ages and conditions of life, who are rejoicing that they took Mr. Cooper's invitation to "come" at his face value, for they are now entirely cured of the most terrible disease known to medical science—contagious blood poison.

MERCURIAL POISONING. There's hardly a day when some discouraged man or woman doesn't walk into the consultation rooms of the International Serum Toxin Company, 501-503 Commercial building, Sixth and Olive streets, St. Louis, suffering not only from blood poison, but from the mercury and potash taken as a cure. Mercury and potash never cured one single case of blood poison and never will, and no one knows this better than the doctors who prescribe its use. The Sieber serum is the only human agency through which this disease can be eradicated from the system—and this scientific and perfect treatment is a life, who are rejoicing that they took Mr. Cooper's invitation to "come" at his face value, for they are now entirely cured of the most terrible disease known to medical science—contagious blood poison.

SAVE EVERY DAY. The Sieber Serum Treatment, owned and administered by the International Serum Toxin Company, 501-503 Commercial building, Sixth and Olive streets, St. Louis, is a subcutaneous injection and is the only agency which will completely eradicate contagious blood poison from the human system. It has effected hundreds of cures that are simply marvelous. Come as soon as possible to the company's offices, investigate and be convinced. Remain away, and you are unnecessarily suffering one more day from this terrible disease, for which at last a perfect and complete cure has been found.

IMMIGRANTS FOOL WOMEN INSPECTORS

Plan to Stop Immoral New-comers Called a Failure at New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 12.—The women immigration inspector experiment at New York is pronounced a failure.
The plan was proposed by Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis of the W. C. T. U., and was endorsed by the national officers of that organization. The President was told that hundreds of girls were being brought over from Europe for immoral purposes and were being landed chiefly at New York and Philadelphia. Women inspectors were given a trial at New York, with the promise that the plan would be extended if successful.
In a report on the five women inspectors, Commissioner Williams of New York says they have boarded 43 steamers, of which 32 were from Europe, and that as a result of their inspection 10 women were sent to Ellis Island for special hearing. All these were subsequently allowed to land. Besides the inspectors gave advice to six or seven women as to a proper place to stay in the city.
In the first case Mr. Williams says it is improbable that women inspectors will ever accomplish anything. He says improper women can be much more readily detected by men inspectors, and that the women inspectors would cause serious trouble to the government.
In the second instance Mr. Williams says the desired end could be better reached by having women who want advice regarding a stopping place met at the dock and that the women's organizations could make such an arrangement with the steamship companies. Mr. Williams adds:
"It is believed that nothing practical can be accomplished through the present system of women inspectors."
Mr. Williams' report, but it is said he will recommend to Secretary Shaw that the plan be abandoned.

HEIR TO $5,000,000 ESTATE

W. J. Outhouse of Ava, Ill., Will Claim Property Left by an Uncle in Austria.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MURPHYSBORO, Ill., March 12.—W. J. Outhouse of Ava, 15 miles north of here, is one of nine heirs to an estate of $5,000,000 in Austria.
Notice of the death of Johann Schoenburg at Budapest, Austria, several months ago appeared in most of the city papers. It stated he had left an immense estate and no known heirs.
Mr. Outhouse saw the notice and recalled the fact that his father, Bradford Outhouse, who died near Belleville in 1873, had an uncle of the same name. An investigation convinced him and his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Outhouse of Marion, Ill., that the man who left the wealth was their relative, and they have laid claim to the estate.
Johann Schoenburg, who had lived in St. Clair County, went to Austria in 1852 to claim a small estate he had inherited. He never returned and but two letters were received from him. One came just before the war.

WOMAN HONORED BY POPE.

Countess Spottiswood-Mackin Visits St. Louis Friends.

"Betsy" Britton, Countess Spottiswood-Mackin, eldest daughter of former Mayor James Britton, has left St. Louis after a brief visit, following an absence of many years. While here she exhibited to her friends the decorations given her by Pope Leo, who honored her as few other American women have been honored with the decoration of the Roman Catholic countess.
Her charitable work among Italians in large cities, which was a task specially assigned her by the Vatican, was the cause of her elevation to the ecclesiastical peerage. In addition to the title she has seven decorations from the Pope.
"Betsy" Britton made her debut during her father's term as mayor of St. Louis. Her mother's quiet tastes gave the daughter an opportunity to become the social head of the household. When Gen. Grant visited St. Louis she was a prominent figure at the reception and in the dinner at the elaborate function given in honor of the visit of General Grant. She is the widow of James Mackin, whose large property she inherited.

Men's $1.25 to $2.00 Spring Shirts, 89c.

One of the most renowned Eastern Shirt Manufacturers, whose name, on account of business reasons we must refrain from mentioning—sold Famous at a very extraordinary discount his surplus stock of Spring Shirts, aggregating about 2500 in all. These were made up for a number of exclusive haberdashers throughout the country and bear their label, but were withheld from shipment by the manufacturer for sundry reasons. They're soft Negligee Shirts, with or without cuffs attached, and are made of highest grade madras, finest woven oxfords and Jacquard weaves, in the very newest and most wanted spring patterns. We could put them in stock and easily get $1.25 to $3.00 for them, but that's not our way of doing. Instead we're going to sell these splendid shirts to our patrons, commencing tomorrow, at the same saving that they came to us—choice at—89c.

Countess Spottiswood-Mackin Visits St. Louis Friends.

"Betsy" Britton, Countess Spottiswood-Mackin, eldest daughter of former Mayor James Britton, has left St. Louis after a brief visit, following an absence of many years. While here she exhibited to her friends the decorations given her by Pope Leo, who honored her as few other American women have been honored with the decoration of the Roman Catholic countess.
Her charitable work among Italians in large cities, which was a task specially assigned her by the Vatican, was the cause of her elevation to the ecclesiastical peerage. In addition to the title she has seven decorations from the Pope.
"Betsy" Britton made her debut during her father's term as mayor of St. Louis. Her mother's quiet tastes gave the daughter an opportunity to become the social head of the household. When Gen. Grant visited St. Louis she was a prominent figure at the reception and in the dinner at the elaborate function given in honor of the visit of General Grant. She is the widow of James Mackin, whose large property she inherited.
